

August 16, 1983

Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, DC 20505

Dear Sir:

I am very interested in evaluating your Agency's printing requirements. Not just in the traditional sense of printing and binding, but into a more full service concept.

 is the largest commercial printer, and we offer such varied services as graphic design, pre-press operations, printing, binding, photocomposition, data base management, and communications via satellite.

STAT

Presently, we are operating and maintaining data base management systems with the Internal Revenue Service, the Federal Reserve Board, and others. The printing and binding aspects are ancillary to the real guts of what we have to offer.

The enclosed flow chart is a synopsis of the system we have implemented at the Internal Revenue Service. Does the Central Intelligence Agency have a similar void to fill? Perhaps a manual system that constantly requires updating and disposition to field units. If so,  expertise in this area could greatly enhance your present efforts.

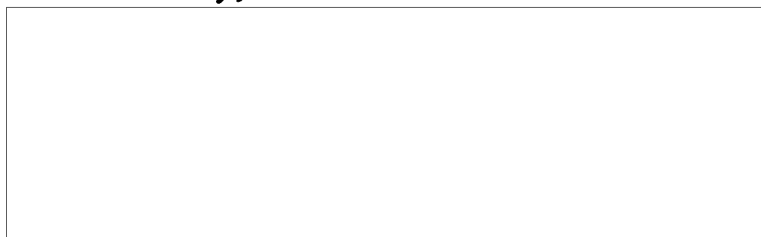

STAT

If there is no such void to fill, than I am still most interested in just your printing and binding requirements. For your convenience, I am forwarding some reading material on

STAT

Thank you for your time and consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,

STAT

GG:yl
Enclosure

All contracts and prices are subject to confirmation by an officer of the Company

